F O R E W O R D

From the beginning of time to the present, progress has been gauged by scientific development or engineering. It is the desire of the editors of this, "The 1931 Agromeck," to present some outstanding engineering achievements of ages past in order to show what may be expected of State College graduates when they leave their Alma Mater.

Egyptian Pyramids

THE Egyptian pyramids have for ages been a source of interest and curiosity and are regarded as one of the seven wonders of the world. The mechanical skill required to construct them continues to be a matter of universal astonishment. The construction of such perfect polyhedrons of such enormous proportions places the ancient Egyptians among the greatest of engineers.

The School of Agriculture

SINCE the organization of State College, the School of Agriculture has occupied an outstanding position in the curricula of this institution. At one time it shared with the School of Engineering the distinction of being the only schools in the college.

The School of Agriculture reaches out and touches the lives of the people of North Carolina in a fundamental way. Its research and extension activities constitute a large part of its program.

The School of Agriculture is ably headed by Dean Ira Obed Schaub. Dean Schaub probably understands the needs of agricultural North Carolina better than any other one man.

DR. W. C. RIDDICK
Dean

The School of Engineering

AS a former President of this institution and as Dean of the School of Engineering, Dr. Wallace Carl Riddick occupies a niche all to himself in the annals of State College history. He has seen the college grow from a small struggling institution to the foremost college in the state, and all the time he has had a vital part in effecting this growth.

The School of Engineering is the largest school of the college. It is largest and most completely equipped, and teaches more students than the combined engineering departments of all other institutions of the State.

DR. T. E. BROWNE
Director

The School of Education

THE School of Education was recently established by the Board of Trustees in response to a positive and urgent demand from the teaching profession. It particularly attempts to prepare teachers for the purpose of serving the rural districts. In this capacity it performs an important function in elevating the rural cultural level.

Thomas Everett Browne is director of instruction for the school. Director Browne has enlarged the scope of the school to give women advantage of the opportunities offered by the teaching profession. Professor Browne is also Director of the Summer School.

DR. CARL C. TAYLOR
Dean

The Graduate School

It is practically impossible to master a subject in a given four-year college curricula. Many students desire to further pursue a course of study in their chosen professions. To meet these desires is the important function of the Graduate School of State College. The Graduate School offers unusual opportunities for research.

Dr. Carl C. Taylor is Dean of the School. In that capacity he has proven one of the most valuable men ever to have come to State College. Dean Taylor is one of the foremost sociologists of the United States and has written several valuable books in that field.

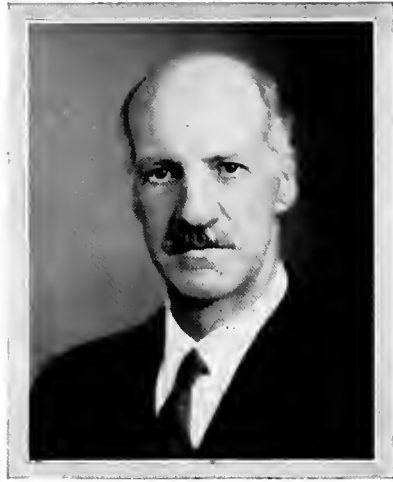

B. F. BROWN
Dean

The School of Science and Business

IN response to the demands of the State for graduates in business administration and a cognizance on the part of the administration of the need of a more cultural curricula, the School of Science and Business was inaugurated at State College.

From a humble beginning only several years past it has grown to become one of the largest schools of the institution. Yearly it attracts to State College an increasing number of desirable students. Since its beginning Benjamin Franklin Brown has been Dean of the School, and he, primarily, has been responsible for its great success.

DR. THOMAS NELSON
Dean

The Textile School

THE textile industry has made North Carolina the foremost manufacturing state of the South. Along with the growth of this industry in the State, the Textile School of State College has played an important part. Not only does this school train men to enter the various types of work in the manufacture of textiles; it coöperates with the mills in the securing of data and other research activities.

It would be impossible to mention the Textile School of State College without linking with it the name of Dean Thomas Nelson. His has been its guiding hand since the beginning of a textile department in 1901.

E. L. CLOYD
Dean

The Dean of Students

NO one man enters into the life of the students more fully than does Dean E. L. Cloyd. His office is one of pleasures and of sorrows. Not only must he be concerned with the scholastic standing of the students; in moral and spiritual aspect of student life, too, is he vitally concerned.

Dean Cloyd is one of the best loved men at State College. His untiring interest in the students, their successes, their failures, and their problems will always endear him in the hearts of all. No student may ever say that Dean Cloyd has ever been anything but fair and considerate.

Roman Roads and Aqueducts

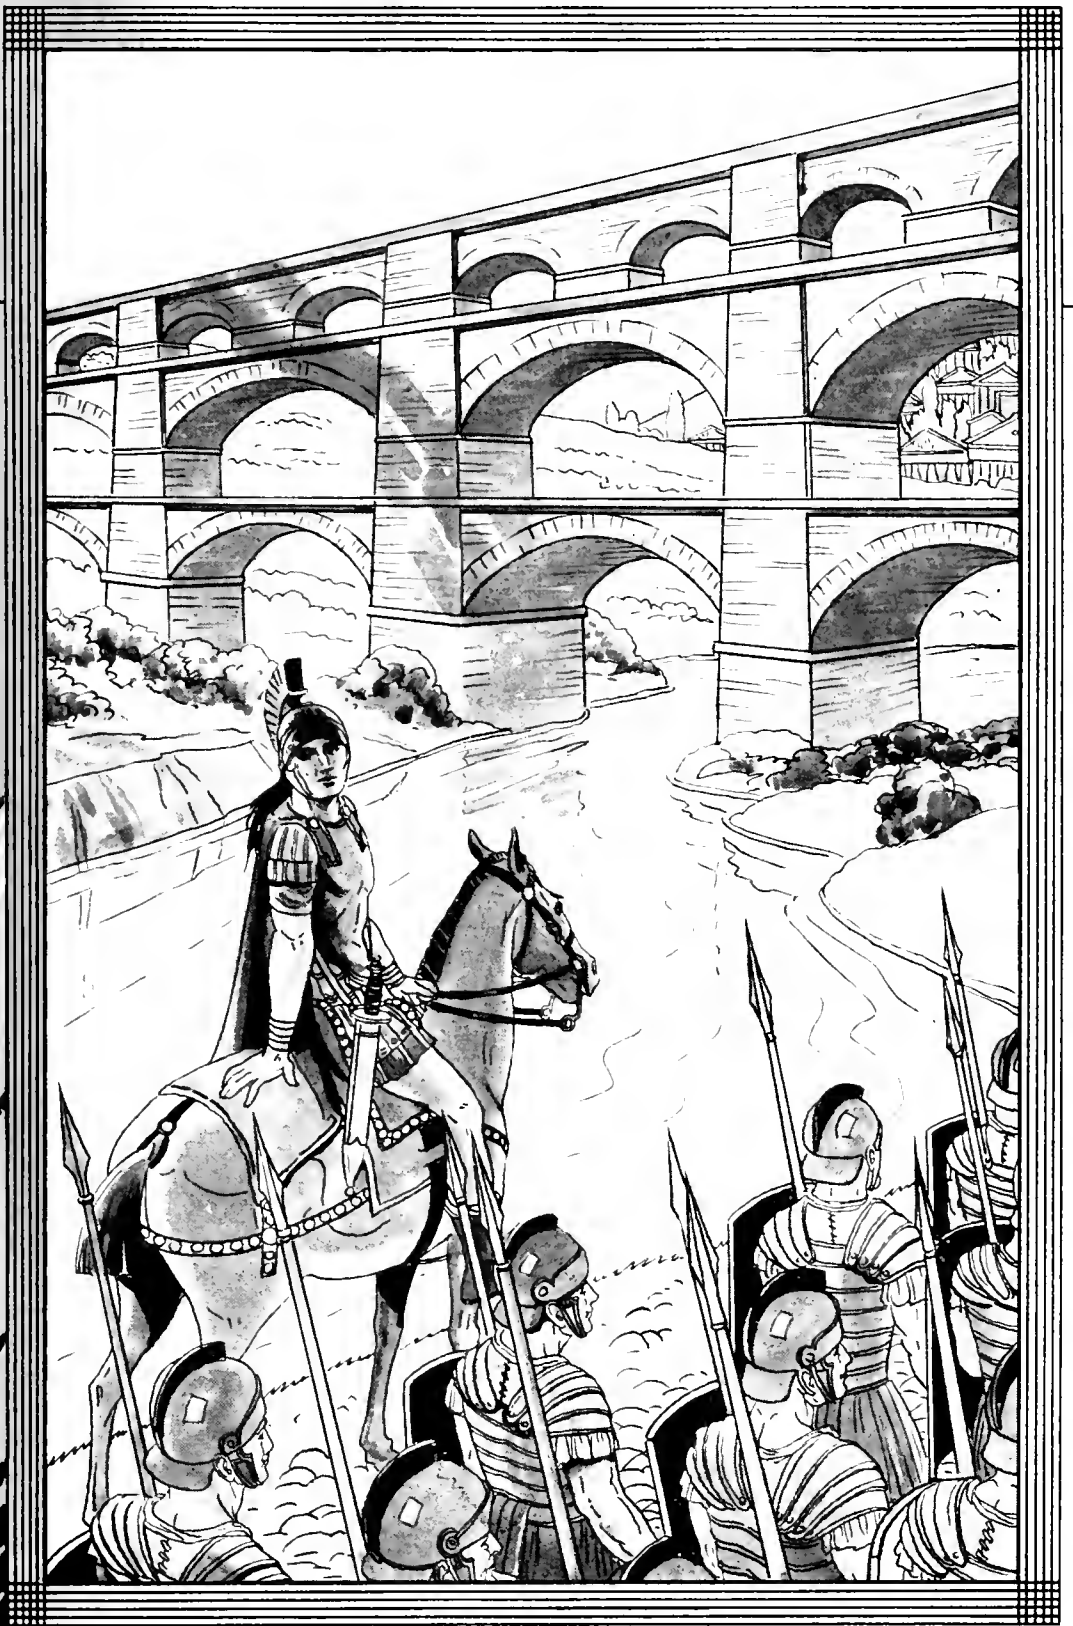

ONE prime requisite of successful engineering is the longevity of the enterprise. Roman military roads and aqueducts certainly have never been surpassed, if equalled, in durability and usefulness. Despite national obstacles, they never deviated from the prescribed course. This is an excellent lesson for modern engineering to take from one of the world's best examples of the art.

Seniors—

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you,
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or being hated don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise:

If you can dream—and not make dreams your master;
If you can think—and not make thoughts your aim;
If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster
And treat those two imposters just the same;
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,
And stoop and build 'em up with worn-out tools:

If you can make one heap of all your winnings
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,
And lose, and start again at your beginnings
And never breathe a word about your loss;
If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the Will which says to them: "Hold on!"

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with Kings—nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a Man, my son!

Juniors, Work! Work!

The foundation has been planted. The plans and ideas outlined. The work is on. Midnight oil must be consumed. Sacrifices made. Discouragement must be encouragement. There is no room for the laggard. Time waits for no man. The work must go on. With shoulders together, heads high, and spirits up the faith of the men must be established to insure us presidencies of the future.

Again, speed is the watchword. But accuracy must ever be its core-thought. Industry rises and man is supreme! Watchfulness and carefulness must ever guard that supremacy. Let that be done by "Work, Work."

Sophomores, Work!

One hill has been mounted and another looms on the horizon. The first hill was the test of courage, manliness, and accuracy. It was planting ideas for future growth. Its ascent was steep and arduous. The second is steeper and only the strong and determined can surmount it. The task of building the morrow rests upon its crest. The work must be done.

Let the watchword be care and precision. Fill each golden minute with sixty diamond seconds of plans and ideas that will develop in to being on the morrow. Work with speed and accuracy. Work for the good of all men.

We have completed our first lap of the laborious journey which confronted us when we first matriculated last fall. Already there are gaps in our ranks which have been inflicted by many agencies. Every day it is becoming more and more evident that this shall be a contest for the survival of the fittest—we must work if we would reach our goal.

Brunelleschi's Dome

IT WAS after repeated attempts to successfully present his plans that Brunelleschi was given an opportunity to try his experiment. The result is the beautiful dome of the Cathedral of Santa Maria del Fiore of Florence, Italy, which was completed about 1446 A.D., the year of his death. This is the first application of the principle of dome construction in architecture.

THE Eiffel Tower, of Paris, marks an era in steel construction never before equalled and, as yet, unsurpassed. It towers above the city at so dizzy a height as to inspire the awe of those who stop to realize that it was created by man.

The time is night; the place is Riddick Field; the curtain slowly rises and State and High Point are ready for the opening game. The night football didn't go over so hot. State lost to Davidson under the floodlights and several others teams refused to play at night. So after the first two games the night football was abandoned.

During the middle of the season "Doc" Sermon took over the Wolfpack. State's Another championship loomed on the horizon of the basketball world when those "Red Terrors" sent Villa Nova back home defeated. The second game of the season with Wake Forest was so successful that there was little doubt as to the "Red Terrors'" supremacy.

However, in Charlotte, State dropped one to Davidson. On their trip south, State met with hard luck, losing to Alabama, Auburn, and Georgia.

The games with Duke this year were both successful. The "Red Terrors" won both games. Carolina won one and State took the other. The game with Davidson in our gym was packed with thrillers. With their backs to the wall the Staters made an up-hill climb to win. Wake Forest defeated State in the last Big Five game. The season closed with V. M. I. bowing to the State ringers.

The last of February found the boys headed for Atlanta and the hope of retaining the championship they lost the previous year. Their hope was stopped by Kentucky, 33-28.

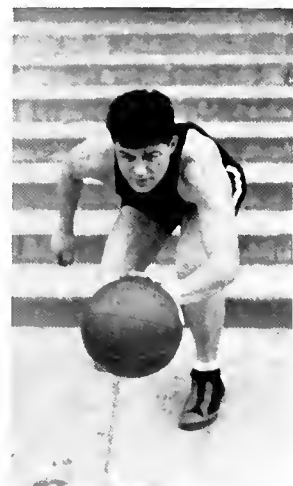

This year will see the graduation of Gammon, Atkinson and Brake. They will be greatly missed next year.

Freshman Baseball

The Freshman, under the direction of Gus Tebell and Butch Slaughter, had one of the best baseball teams seen in many years for Freshman. The season was very successful and produced some real ball players. It is hoped that with the new stock of Freshmen that the stock will rise rapidly next year for the varsity. This was Coach Tebell's and Coach Slaughter's last team. Those showing up well were Morris, Duke and Wade.

Resume of Season

The State trackers participated in six meets all told last season and were credited with one win and placed second in the annual State Tournament held in Greensboro.

The season started out with a bright future by a win over Wake Forest. A trip into Virginia proved fatal to the Staters and they dropped two dual meets: one with Washington and Lee and

The Norris Athletic Trophy

The Norris Athletic Trophy, a massive silver loving cup standing twenty-four inches high, is awarded annually to the best all-round athlete at N. C. State by Norris, Inc., of Atlanta, Ga., through its president, Frank E. Lowenstein, a State College alumnus.

The winning of this cup is the greatest honor that can come to a State College athlete. Possession of this trophy depends, not only upon athletic ability, but upon general scholastic lines as well.

This year's winner is Maurice W. Johnson, of Marshall, Minn. Since his freshman year "Jonny" has distinguished himself both in football and basketball. His career reached its climax last year when he was chosen by Les Gage in his pick of All-American basketball players.

Panama Canal

WHEN Columbus left Spain he was in search of a short route from Europe to India. His dream was not entirely realized until the Panama Canal was conceived. This remarkable engineering feat marks an era surpassed by none for its contribution to mankind.

THE PANAMA CANAL

ORGANIZATIONS

Student Government

The first constitution of Student Government was granted by the Board of Trustees in 1921, and since that time each administration and each year has added something to the upbuilding of a better government.

Student Government is recognized as are the most important factors in the life of the college, because of its service to the administration of the college, its effect on the Student Body and its value in introducing students to the great problem of government.

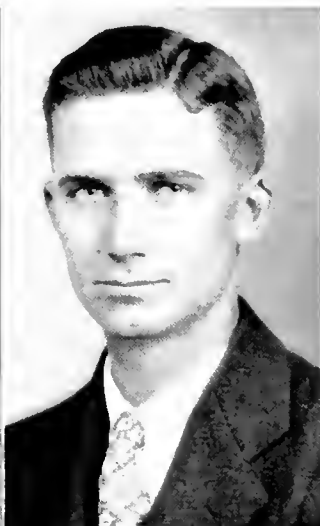

By having the students assume the responsibility of self-government, Student Government builds men of character, and cultivates that sense of responsibility so necessary to citizenship.

The Elder P. D. Gold Citizenship Medal

The Elder P. D. Gold Citizenship Medal is awarded each year by Mr. C. W. Gold of Greensboro, N. C., a member of the class of 1895, in memory of his father, Elder P. D. Gold, of Wilson, N. C.

The award is based on four qualities of citizenship in the college community: Scholarship, student leadership, athletics, and public speaking. These four qualifications are certified to by the college registrar, the Student Council, the Faculty Athletic Committee and a committee composed of the ranking junior officers in all college societies in which public speaking is practiced.

The name of the winner of this medal is announced each year by the President of the college at the commencement exercises.

Since the establishment of this award five years ago, it has been won by the following men:

The 1931 Agromeck

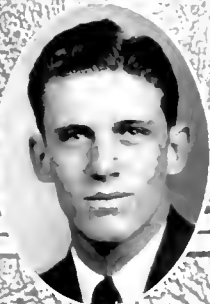

THE 1931 AGROMECK is the result of two forces harmoniously blended. These forces are those of the editorial staff and those of the business staff.

As editor, Everett Couch has tried to publish the best annual State College has ever had. When questions of policy have arisen, personal opinion has been "pigeon-holed" for the sake of better editorial judgment.

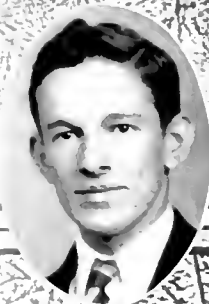

John Gammon, as business manager, has labored through a difficult period and is to be commended on the success of his management.

The Technician

"Thirty"—that's good-bye in newspaper lingo.

It means that the assignment is finished, that the creator has done his best. The story then passes on to critics for correction and then to the readers.

When Editor Park and Business Manager Land pecked "30" on their assignment—editing a college newspaper for nine months—there were no corrections for critics to make—no details to add, nothing to blue pencil.

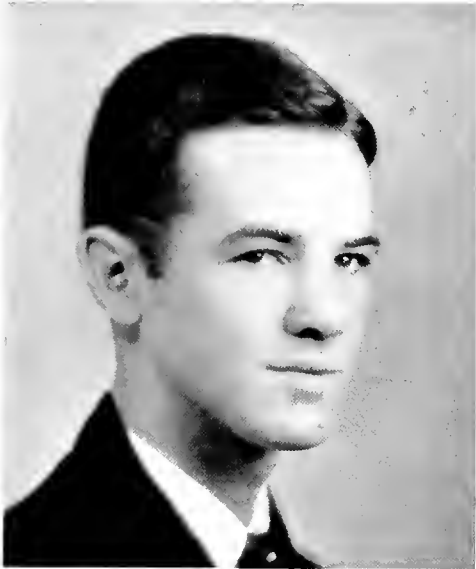

Experienced, logical, with a flair for writing, Park turned out news, readable and spicy. Shrewd, endowed with Midas' magic touch, Land had no difficulty in financing the publication.

Each week The Technician gave you timely, reliable, interesting news, sound editorials. It was a delineator of campus activities and a moulder of campus opinions.

THE WATAUGAN

The Wataugan, in this year, has been evolved into a humorous-literary magazine. In so doing it was believed by its editors to more nearly fit the needs of expression of the students. It now is equalized with both the literary and humorous aspects of student and faculty expression being duly emphasized. Interest in illustrations and cartoons was especially high in the student body.

Mike Whitehurst, the editor, has brought into student publication environment the natural phase of humor, leaving intact the interest hitherto showed in good literature.

An exceptionally well financed year was made possible through the efforts of Henry Brock, business manager. It is necessary that the business manager raise a major portion of the proceeds required to publish the full six issues of The Wataugan.

International Tunnel

A PRODIGIOUS step in Man's never-ending conquest of natural barriers was recently taken at Detroit, where engineers have constructed the world's first international tunnel between that city and the Canadian municipalities across the Detroit River.

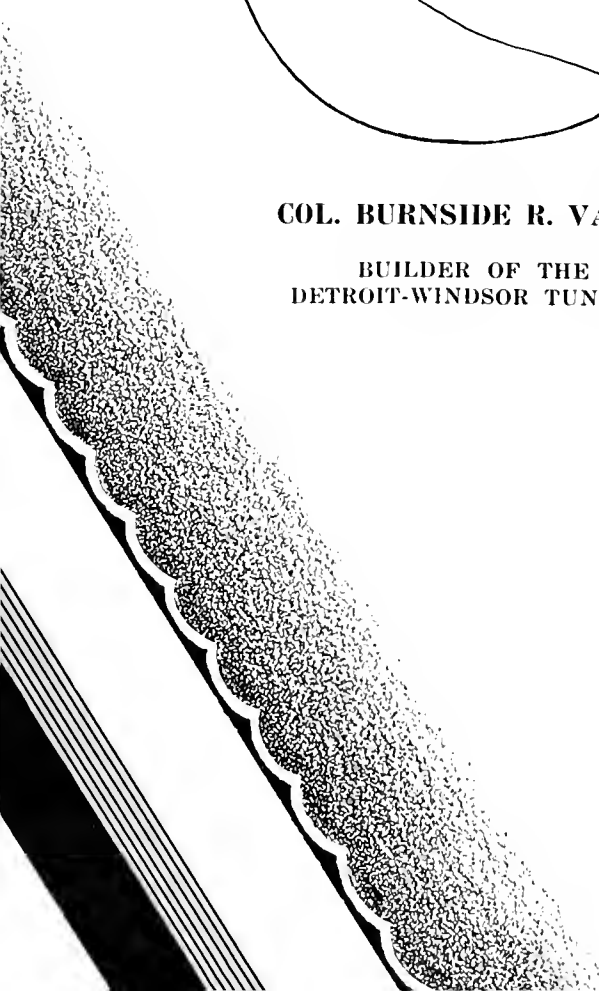

It is particularly fitting that the center of the automotive industry should blaze a new trail for the automobile. The new tunnel is of the latest design, having all types of construction employed.

We cannot help but feel that such examples of international unity point to a more complete understanding among nations, thus lessening disputes.

Angry Whacks

There has been too much said in the rest of this book for us to try and print a foreword to this section, so Old Geoghegan comes out of his state of Coma (if you don't believe that's the state, look at his license tag), and offers to sell Ev Couch the following:

DEDICATION

In the few pages to follow, there are some old junk jokes picked up at random, wherever that is. These morsels are so sorry, that it really is an insult to dedicate the section to anything, much less anybody, but the Man Higher Up says that dedications are in order, so here goes. You can fool some of the people some of the time, and you can fool some of the people some of the time, so therefore, this not making the least sense, and only being so much bull to fill up space, it gives more than pleasure (it really gives us spasms), to dedicate this, the 1931 Angry Whack to

THE MANAGERS

By this we mean football, baseball, and all the rest of the managers, but especially the so-called business manager of our little scandal sheet, The Technician. Need we go farther?

Please turn over about six pages and skip the next few. It might save us embarrassment. At any rate, we didn't say we thought up the jokes. Why, little children, we leave that up to the Wataugan. Now calm down and close the book. Hola.

But don't forget:

The Angry Whack,
Can take a crack,

THE AGROMECK is the publication of the college which you will retain and cherish as the years roll on. We have tried to give you a book which you will be proud to put on display in any audience. We hope you like our work, for we have certainly done that. However, should you dislike or disapprove of anything we have done we can only offer one recourse and that is to try and put out an annual yourself. You "get it" from every angle and from everybody.

Fellows, please bring your criticisms to us. We did it and we are proud of it. We believe this is the best AGROMECK ever put out at State and have arguments to uphold our convictions.

It would be impossible to publish a book of this kind without outside assistance and we wish to acknowledge the following persons and concerns:

Mr. Harold F. Mann and Jahn & Ollier Engraving Company are responsible for the art treatment and engravings in the book. We certainly wish to thank them for the excellent manner in which they have executed their end of the job.

Mr. W. J. Crichton, Jr., and the Observer Printing House are to be thanked for the binding and printing. We appreciate the way they have carried their part of the load.

Mr. M. F. Dunbar and Siddell's Studio are responsible for the photographs, which we think are unsurpassed.

Last but far from least, the staff of students who have spent hour after hour plugging away are to be congratulated for the way they have sacrificed other pleasures to do the job. We certainly want to take our hats off to them.

The BARBER-COLMAN Way of Automatic Spooling and Warping Results in Lower Operating Costs

In analyzing the merits of various spooling and warping systems it is well to remember one proven fact, that the real improvements in the warp are made in the Automatic Spooler and not in the Warper as many are led to believe. Perfect weaver's knots, elimination of kinks, efficient yarn cleaners, and running the yarn without artificial tension at the Barber-Colman Automatic Spooler go farther toward making perfect warps and reducing operating costs than any benefits that may be obtained through the use of any other spooling, winding and warping system.

DEAN: "Will you gentlemen have seats, so that the meeting may proceed?"

PAL BARNHARDT (telling funny story to Frank Capps): "—and the game ended when Herbert slid into what he thought was second base!"

(Guffaws of laughter.)

DEAN: "Will you gentlemen have seats so that we may begin the meeting?"

DR. HARRISON (drawing in breath through teeth): "I have observed that the incompatibility of the present day students—"

DEAN: "DO have a seat, Doctor!"

DEAN NELSON: "I say, old chap—"

DEAN BROWN (interrupting): "As I was saying, the business students rule the campus."

DEAN: "Gentlemen, if you don't sit down I will call upon Professor Moen to make a speech."

(All of the gentlemen take seats.)

The Dean now makes a long speech against having co-eds in the college, enumerating the evil influences of same. He ends with these words: "—and furthermore, gentlemen, in co-educational institutions, the boys and girls sit on the same classes together. And furthermore, they eat in the cafeteria together. And they tell me, gentlemen, they tell me, that they matriculate in the same semesters!"

The meeting breaks up in confusion amid cries of "Awful." "A terrible situation," "Down with co-eds."

JOKES

ANNE ROBERTSON: "Why did you quit taking that course under Professor Richardson?"

J. V. H. ANDREWS: "He was so bow-legged I fell through his lap."

BILL MAST: "I'm reading."

CLARK: "Whatcha readin'?"

MAST: "The Wataugan."

DEAN BROWN: "No, only your mind."

Q.: "What's a dry dock?"

A.: "A physician who won't give out prescriptions."

The buxom woman was standing in the street car, holding to a strap. The cantankerous looking man was seated reading. The car swung and she stepped on his foot.

"Madam," he barked, "will you please get off my foot?"

"Put your foot where it belongs," she replied sharply.

"Don't tempt me, madam, don't tempt me," he countered.

DOC SERMON: "What's the trouble son, a blister?"

DINK DELLINGER: "No, corn."

DOC: "How'd you get it?"

D. D.: "I got it from a boot-legger."

FATHER: "Don't think for a minute you're going to marry my daughter."

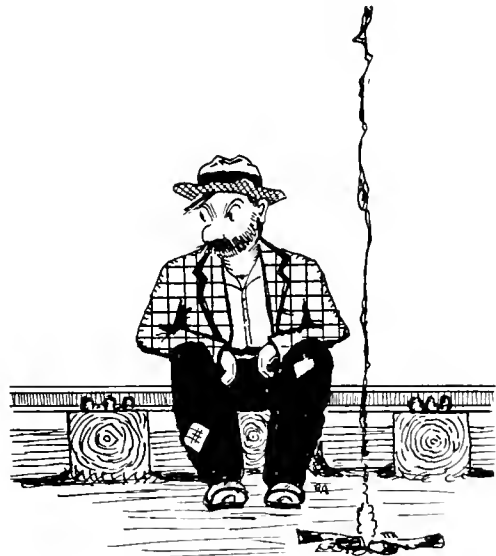

ED RANKIN: "Fine—you get me out of this mess and I'll be your friend for life."

FRESHMAN COUCH: "Lend me five bucks, Charlie. I've got another fee to pay."

MR. TURNER: "And what is it this time?"

FROSH COUCH: "A female."

And to think! In 1931 I was the best dressed man in State College.

LINES WRITTEN AT SUMMER
SCHOOL

Let This be a Lesson to You

On a day like this,
When no zephyr cools the sweating
throng,
And the pavement gives off waves of heat—
We must strive to smile at Life's little game.
For if you cry—tears mingle with sweat—
And that tastes terrible, and smells worse. Spare me.

Now take a problem in accounting,
I work, while my temperature mounting,
Sends dizziness to my head
I think I'll abide,
On the debit side,
Of a good old feather bed

I can't answer the question, sir,
I did my best to learn it,
But you know how the summer is,
I just can't study, darn it.

Controlled Tension For Controlled Quality

FIRST quality in the manufacture of woven fabric, demands absolute control of yarn for both filling and warp.

For more than twenty years, the #90 UNIVERSAL FILLING WINDER has produced cops and bobbins, wound with mechanically inspected yarn, uniformly tensioned, and containing the maximum yardage possible for the shuttle used.

In 1928, we developed the UNIVERSAL HIGH SPEED WARPING SYSTEM, making it possible to apply these same desirable principles to the preparation of the warp, thereby deriving the two-fold advantage that is gained when perfect filling is woven into inspected warp, under complete tension control. This system brings to you substantial gains in efficiency in the slashing as well as the weaving operation, due to the clearing of the yarn during the winding, and, in addition, presents to your looms the most evenly tensioned beam it is now possible to prepare.

It is apparent then, that UNIVERSAL HIGH SPEED WARPING in combination with UNIVERSAL FILLING WINDERS, doubles assurance that the product of your weave shed will carry the highest mark in quality.

A BOOST

If I couldn't write at all,
And was really dumb as hell,
If I had lots of gall,
And knew how to copy well—

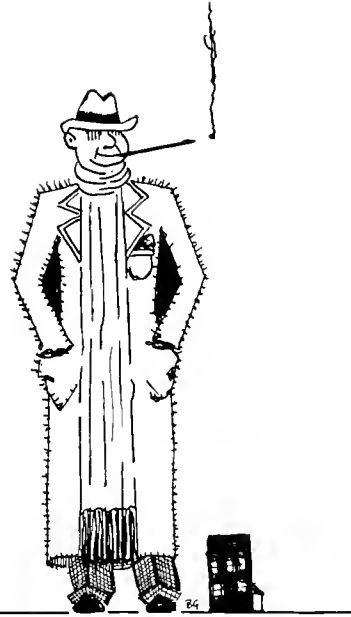

If I believed in nothing,
That was for the good of the
school,
And if I had fancy clothing,
For stuff that's trash as a rule:

Then my child, if I had my rights,
And this is true, my dear,
I'd edit The Wataugan,
Just like it was done this year!

We apologize, but we heard that the new bathing suit song was "I'm Jantzen with tears in my sides."

Henry Ormand says: There are co-eds who go places and do things, and then there are co-eds who just go places.

BUS FENNELL: "There! I win the pot."

BOB GATLIN: "Play this game honest. I know what cards I dealt you."

JOKES

HAILIE COVINGTON: "Is a girl that drinks a nice girl?"

LEE MERCER: "If she drinks enough."

And again: She was only the butcher's daughter, but I sure would like to meet her.

And somebody said summer school is like reading a funny paper in a Turkish bath.

And I says to the shoemaker's daughter: "You are my very soul, and a couple of heel taps to boot."

BOB GREASON: "I put your suit on the clothes-horse."

DEKE BAGGETT: "What odds did you get?"

And just to prove that life has its little jokes, we spend hours trying to fix up something to get a laugh, and the Freshmen do the same thing, with no effort at all.

A little poem entitled If the Rain Makes Things Beautiful, Why do Our Co-eds Carry Umbrellas? Here 'tis:

To think I might not get my due,
Was once a bitter pill,
But now the thing that bothers me,
Is fearing that I will.

It is understood that the Phi Pi Phi's hold an afternoon lab for Meredith gals.

Floor caved in at the Phi Kappa Tau dance. These new steps are hell on houses, ain't they?

Pi Kappa Phi's gave four dances. The Cotillion Club will have to step some, or let the Phi's sign 'em up.

Kappa Alpha's will have to pledge up a touring car or a couple of horses if they continue to stay out in Plumnelly. Half soleing will cost them a fortune.

Kappa Sig's have quit selling popcorn. We wonder if their old janitor is back.
